Rain Stops Williams and Church in Big Test.

Princeton, N. J., May 22. Rain was no respecter of tennis at Princeton this afternoon and interrupted a match for the championship betwee R. Norris Williams, the holder of the national singles title, and George M. Church, holder of the intercollegiate singles Pumpelly Forces in Lud-holder of the intercollegiate singles title.

The men were competing as captains of the Harvard and Princeton teams, which were to have played to a conclusion, but were driven in by the rain. Church had the first set of his match against Williams at 6 to 3. His opponent was not equal to his overhead drives on the slippery court. Williams was holding the second set at 4 to 1, but the Princeton captain pulled up by a remarkable rally and was holding at 6 to 6 all and 40—30 in Williams's favor when the downpour ended the playing. The match will be played next Monday.

AMHERST NINE WINS IN TWELFTH

Three Hits Work Undoing of Stanley, Wesleyan's Star

Twirler.

(Ins Telegraph to The Tebuse.)

Amherst, Mass, May 22.— In the most exciting ball game played here this year Amherst defeated Wesleyan only after twelve nerve racking innings, by a core of 5 to 4.

Amherst himmered out three hits in the twelfth frame. McTernan opened the inning with his first hit in several games, and took second when an attempt to get him off first resulted in an error. Goodridge, the Amherst twirler, who took the mound in the eighth frame, laid down a perfect bunt, which laist hugged the third base line, and he took first easily, while McTernan went to third. Captain Swasey fanned after fouling several times, but Brown crashed into one of Stanley's curves and sent the ball over second, scoring McTernan with the winning run.

Lanning started for Wesleyan and held Amherst to one hit in six innings, but he lost control of the ball in the seventh, when it began to rain, and he passed three men, which, with a hit, passed ball and error, allowed Amherst to tilly four times and to tie the score. Goodridge took Seaman's place in the box after the seventh frame, and held the heavy Middletown batters at bay He cillowed only four hits, gave two passes and fanned four men. He also cracked out a single, besides his bunt in the twelfth.

Wesleyan tailled three runs in the sixth frame, when they found Seamans for three hits, one of which was a two-bagger by Becker.

Volke, the last man up for Tufts

There was some excellent fielding on toth sides, the fine work of the second and baseman, Giacomo, for Georgetown, and the third baseman, toth a high foul after third baseman, toth a high foul after a desperate run in the direction of right field, in the eighth. Spillane, Georgetown's first baseman, held Moran's drive though he had to dive to the side to reach the ball.

In the second Adams singled and took second on Moran's out, scoring on Hicks's triple. Hicks acored on the Rodgers's single, but Rodgers was out at second on Calhoun's grounder. Blodgers's single, but Rodgers was out at second on Calhoun's grounder. Blodgers's single, but Rodgers was out at second on Calhoun's grounder. Blodgert then hit for the circuit. T. Fisher and Smith were passed, the former scoring on H. Fisher's single. Finnegan retired in favor of Kelly, who was hit frequently but kept the safe ones scattered.

The victory was a costly one for Brown, as Donovan, the first string catcher was carried off the field in the fifth inning after falling on his head was taken to the hospital, where it was found that he had concussion of the brain.

Andrews really won the game for Brown. In the fourth inning, after he had drawn a pass, he ran around to third on a sacrifice hit and scored when the throw to third base was not covered. His sacrifice fly sent a second runner over in the fifth linning. Brown's other tally came in the seventh on Feinberg's single, a sacrifice and Dike's double, which was the only extra base hit of the day. Both runs scored by Tufts came as a result of errors, coupled with hits.
